

WOOD FORCES STAGE EFFECTIVE CAMPAIGN

GENERAL MARSHALS ARMY
AND BEGINS OFFENSIVEEXPECT TO GRAB MANY DELEGATES WHO WERE PLEDGED TO JOHNSON AND OTHERS ON FIRST BALLOT

LITTLE HEARD OF JOHNSON TODAY

CHICAGO, June 9—A terrific "drive" to make General Leonard Wood, the Republican Presidential nominee was launched here today. The Wood forces started their sweeping offensive from several angles. The preliminary work is finished and the real battle is begun. The selection of Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, as chairman of the Resolutions Committee late yesterday and the unanimous selection of Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, temporary chairman, of the convention as Permanent Chairman were among the early indications to those initiated in the political mysteries that something was going on.

While the votes on the chairmanship of the Resolutions Committee were being garnered in Wm. Barnes of New York nominated Senator Lodge as permanent chairman. Many of the southern members of the committee swung to Lodge. In this was seen the work of Frank H. Hitchcock who had control of the south even before he swung over to Wood. Another indication of the Wood offensive was renewed pressure on delegates instructed for candidates other than General Wood who would fulfill their technical obligations to the man they were instructed for on the first and second ballots. Some of the Johnson delegates were reported under particularly strong pressure.

CHICAGO, June 9—Temporary Chairman Henry Cabot Lodge called the Republican National Convention to order at its second session at 11:20 a. m. today. The main business before the convention was approval of the report of the Committee on Permanent organization which recommended that Lodge be permanent Chairman. The committee recommended that all of the temporary officers be made permanent.

The official temperature of the Coliseum was 84 degrees. Thousands of fans were going. The most interesting occurrence on the floor happened ten minutes before the opening when a box of candy was discovered among the New York delegates. It was soon surrounded by a crowd.

The police began to clear the aisles of the crowds at eleven o'clock. After Lodge called the convention to order Rev. Stone of Chicago made the invocation. At the conclusion of the prayer Dr. Stone lead the convention in song. When the business session was finished cries of "Depew" were heard from all parts of the Coliseum. He ascended the rostrum and was introduced by Lodge who said "although a young man I need not introduce him to a Republican Convention." Depew evidently misunderstood Lodge and thought he referred to him as an old man. "When Senator Lodge says I am an old man he is mistaken," Depew declared. He described a letter from a Westerner who had been told Depew's age who said "he is either a miracle or a liar." Depew contrasted the present convention with the convention which nominated Lincoln the second time. He contrasted the World war debts with the debts of the Civil war and declared that we needed a Republican administration to bring back some semblance of order. A Republican Administration is necessary, he said, to wipe out the war debts and bring down the cost of living. Depew was interrupted every few minutes by applause.

CHICAGO, June 9—The Republican National Convention swung into its second session with the prospect of quickly cleaning up all preliminary work and getting down to business soon. The reports from the Committees on Resolutions, Credentials and Permanent Organization were to be received probably by noon. Speech making was in prospect while the delegates awaited the report of the Resolutions Committee making the platform.

The keenest interest was manifested in what planks will be proposed for labor and the League of Nations, especially the latter, as it will cause the real fire works of the Convention with the League and Anti-League workers clashing on the floor. The real work is being done in the committee rooms and in quiet discussion between delegates. Developments of today included:

First, the Credentials Committee reviewed the decision of the National Committee and reversed its ruling in three cases making the total number of delegates entitled to seats 984. This makes the necessary votes for nomination 493.

Second, the Committee on Permanent Organization has its report ready to submit in today's session. The report approves of Senator Lodge as permanent chairman and the other temporary officers as permanent.

Third, the Resolutions Committee will have disposed of the Mexican policy, League of Nations and the labor planks before night. Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation

Convention News Is
Biggest Topic Today

You may not be interested in politics but it is a mighty important event that is taking place in Chicago this week. It is of the utmost importance to every man, woman and child that the right kind of man be named as the candidate of not only the Republican party but the Democratic party as well. Aside from our interest in the future the gigantic contest between the presidential aspirants is a most interesting topic. So many people write us that they forget to renew their subscription that we take this method of reminding our mail subscribers to watch for that RED ENVELOPE and see that it is returned by first mail.

The Progress will carry the news of both big conventions in all its phases. Send in that RED ENVELOPE now.

of Labor is here to fight for laws favorable to labor.

Fourth, the Resolutions Committee has its report on routine ready to submit.

Fifth, new organizations by Johnson and Lowden appeared to be taking shape. A vigorous Wood offensive is in full swing.

Lowden's workers were confident that they would make inroads in a number of important delegates so as to insure Lowden the nomination with 500 votes. In the Johnson camp it was predicted that telegrams and letters would swamp the delegates from the people back home telling them they want Johnson of California. Hoover's workers were busy linking up second choice votes.

CHICAGO, June 9—The labor, League of Nations and Mexican issues were before the Resolutions Committee of the Republican National Committee today. By tonight the committee was expected to decide the form on which these questions will go into the platform. A sub-committee was appointed while the full committee held open hearings. Scores of petitioners sought the rooms where the hearings were in progress seeking to get their views into the platform. Both friends and foes of the League, bitter enders, and reservationists composed the sub-committee which was headed by Senator Watson of Indiana. Senator Borah and Senator McCormack are the irreconcilable members of the sub-committee which will also include Watson and Lodge, reservationists, Odgen Mills of New York, a pro-League, Smoot of Utah, a Lodge reservationist, Lewis Coolidge, of Massachusetts, who has leanings toward Borah's views. William Allen White of Kansas, Wm. Heyburn of Kentucky, D. Lawrence of Virginia, Wallace McCamant of Oregon, Governor Beckman of Rhode Island and Harris Gilpin of Michigan are classed as more or less fervent reservationists.

STATE FORESTER THANKS
CLEARFIELD FIRE FIGHTERS

HARRISBURG, PA., June 9.—Gideon Pinchot, the State's chief forester, is delighted with the spirit displayed by Clearfield's volunteer forest fire fighters. He commended highly the action of the sixty-four men who recently went to the assistance of Forester Horning, at Snow Shoe, where a severe and extensive forest fire raged in the mountains for several days.

A report of the fire-fighting activities of Clearfield's citizens was sent to the Pennsylvania Department of Forestry by William F. Dague the forester in charge of the Clearfield State Forest. Members of hunting clubs of that locality, who patrolled the woods for possible forest fires on Memorial Day when the streams were thronged with recreationists and fishermen, were likewise complimented by Commissioner Pinchot. He expressed the desire to thank personally every person who assisted in the protection of the State's forests.

The happy young couple left on the 1:15 train for Altoona where they have their home already furnished for occupancy.

OLD VETERAN BURIED

The funeral of the late Gideon P. Doughman, who died Friday morning, May 28th, was held from the home of his son, Walter Doughman, in Grant, on Thursday afternoon June 3rd at 2 p. m. His daughter, Mrs. S. B. Willit, of the State of Washington, with many others, was in attendance. The deceased was a veteran of the Civil war and the G. A. R., Spanish-American and World War veterans were represented at the funeral.

Rev. Jones, of Lumber City, officiated and interment was made in the Friends cemetery. J. S. Smith, of Curwenville, was the funeral director in charge.

Circassian walnut is sold by the pound or the ton and not by the foot. As early as 118 B. C. it was introduced into Italy from Persia. The logs are sold from the forest with their bark on. Only the heart of the wood is used, and it is the crooked, irregular logs that possess the best figured wood.

Senator Penrose Believed Too

NOMINATION

By HAROLD D. JACOBS

CHICAGO, June 9—The Credentials Committee of the Republican National Committee today completed its work of making up the permanent roll of that body at 5 a. m. today after it had been in session thirteen hours. After reviewing 137 of the contest cases heard by the National Committee last week and one additional from Oregon the Committee made only three reversals from the committee's finding. This brings the normal personnel to 984 with 493 necessary for the nomination.

SPOURL SENTIMENT
GROWS AT CHICAGO
IN BIG MAN HUNT

CHICAGO, June 8—The situation in the Republican contest for the presidential nominee is as confused tonight as it has been at any time since the candidates arrived on the scene.

This was the situation: Senator Johnson has gained some strength; Wood's chances in inner circles are held to be practically hopeless.

Big business is still trying desperately to put over Lowden but there is increased antagonism to his candidacy.

The older statesmen are desperately trying to find a man who will satisfy business interests and at the same time be able to command the support of voters who believe in the principles and ideals of Senator Johnson.

They are having a most difficult search. A score of names have been canvassed in conferences today, but not one of them appeared to possess the qualities the old time leaders require.

The name of Governor Sproul persists prominently in the foreground. If the Pennsylvania delegation can effect a working agreement with the New York delegation, additional strength will be secured. But the New Yorkers apparently are considerably at sea and are not yet able to decide on a program that all of the Empire delegates will stand by.

There are indications that this "will be a surprise convention," that is the nominee may be some man who will spring into prominence by some dramatic action on the floor of the convention.

In the credentials committee there was a coalition of Johnson and Wood men in the selection of chairman which defeated the Wood candidate. This was taken to indicate that if there is a break in the Wood ranks his support will go to Johnson.

Mrs. C. C. Johnson of Philadelphia is spending a few days with her sister Mrs. Jas. McLaughlin of Park street.

Miss Mildred McLaughlin entertained twelve of her friends at a chicken dinner last evening at her home on Park street in honor of her sixth birthday. All had an enjoyable time. Miss Hazel Johnson of Philadelphia attended the party.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Robison, of Weaver Street left for Altoona on this morning's Pennsylvania to attend the funeral of their grandson, Lester DeHass whose death occurred at his home due to leakage of the heart. He was seventeen years old. His death is a great shock to his parents and grandparents and he will be missed by every one who knew him. Always a pleasant word and smile for all even when suffering intense pain. He leaves to mourn their loss his father and mother and one brother in the Marines and one sister at home.

United Press Report Declares Leaders
Of Delegation Have Heard No
Word Since Arrival

NO RESPONSE TO PHONE CALLS

(By United Press)

CHICAGO, June 9—Senator Boies Penrose has not talked with any of the leaders of the Pennsylvania delegation since their arrival here, it was learned today, although long distance telephone lines connect the Pennsylvania headquarters and Penrose's bed side. All direct communication with him has failed, members of the state delegation said. It is the first time in many years that the Republican party is without the advice of a veteran leader.

It was reported here that Penrose's condition is serious. There has been no response to many telegrams sent Penrose and the messages which have been received bear the signature of Penrose's secretary. The inability of Penrose to take any personal part in directing affairs probably explains the action of the Pennsylvania delegates in launching the Sproul boom shortly after their arrival here. A few weeks ago Penrose opposed Sproul and recommended Knox. Had Penrose been here or been able to participate by long distance telephone many persons close to the Pennsylvania situation say that Knox would be in Sproul's shoes.

OF JUDGE KUNKLE

HARRISBURG, June 8—President

Judge Kunkle, before whom the capital graft cases were tried and in which several of the defendants were convicted, died at his home here early tonight after an illness since last April. He was 63 years old.

Judge Kunkle was defeated at the May primaries by Judge Sylvester Sailer, of Cumberland county, for a seat on the state supreme court bench. He took no active part in the campaign.

He has been on the Dauphin county bench since 1903. His successor will be appointed by the governor.

SUFFERED COMPOUND
FRACTURE OF LEG

Sheridan Betz, of Pine street, employed as a carpenter by Contractor Frank Snook, suffered a compound fracture of his left leg shortly after 12 o'clock today. Mr. Snook and his crew had been working at the hospital and upon quitting work at noon got into Millard Fillhart's automobile to come over to town for dinner. When the machine reached the corner of Second and Pine streets Mr. Betz jumped off while it was in motion. He missed his footing and fell to the street. The rear wheel of the car passed over the prostrate man's leg and caused a serious fracture just above the ankle. A compound fracture was caused, the bone being forced through his trousers leg.

He was picked up and carried into the office of Dr. Stewart just a few feet distant where Drs. Stewart and Cowdick reduced the fracture and then had the injured man removed to the Clearfield hospital.

The wave of twenty per cent. reduction sales throughout the county is declared by many conservative observers to be only a temporary relief from high prices. They declare that many merchants are digging their own graves and that there can be no genuine reduction in the cost of living until the causes are removed. There is a wide difference of opinion as to the causes. Men are almost a unit in crediting or charging under production with the high prices. Ultra conservatives profess to believe that wages must fall before living can be cheaper. Many of the beliefs are fallacious. And if under production is the cause it naturally follows that the consumer is being gouged on what is being produced because of the demand. The manufacturer, the speculator, the jobber and, in some instances, the retailer is sharing in the large profits.

Whether the relief be temporary or permanent Mr. Average Citizen is thankful for it and he is thanking, not the manufacturer, the speculator or the jobber, but the retailer who takes the step. After all the retailer has but one source from which to draw his profits and that is his customers. The retailer may be dropping a little money or at least sacrificing the greater part of what would be his profits but his customers are going to remember him for it. There is no danger of any merchant digging his own grave in any such manner so long as his trade is with him. There are instances where wages are abnormally high but our observation is that the manufacturer must take the first step or at least show to the world that he is putting the same standards of efficiency into his business as he expects from labor. It is true that all business has been a gamble but the stakes have been large and the odds favorable to success. The reckless and gambling instinct has permeated the business world and brought about an expansion of credits undreamed of. Expansive and luxurious methods of conducting business and wasteful selling and distributing methods have added tremendously to selling prices. Though there was an under production and a demand for more than any manufacturer could produce, we have yet to hear of any of them disbanding their selling forces or taking any other step that would decrease the cost of their product. Our hotels today are filled to capacity with salesmen who solicit orders that cannot be filled. A woodsman begins at the butt of the tree to trim off the branches in preparing the log for the mill. Business must begin to trim its branches in the same manner.

These retail price reductions have had their temporary effect and while we believe that the twenty per cent. effect will be more or less temporary the campaign is bound to have an effect on the manufacturer. Already there are signs of manufacturers trimming their branches to meet the demands of merchants who have been telling them that the people are demanding a good grade of staple goods at conservative prices. Fads, fancies and the finer grades are going begging on the market. There will be a turning to staple goods which can be sold at a reasonable figure. Manufacturers are beginning to do some figuring for they most surely realize that another day of price competition is dawning and that price instead of wares will be the test of their strength. There is evidence that manufacturers are heeding the demands of the people and the refusal of merchants to buy fall and winter goods.

Yes, the effect will be both temporary and permanent, temporary in that it affords relief now, permanent in that it is forcing business to set its house in order for a new order of things. The new order will not be revolutionary but it will be the beginning of the slide for life.

Nuts Grown in United States.

About the only nuts that have been so far raised in this country on a large scale are the English walnut and the almond, the former mainly in southern California, the latter in central California, also the pecan in the southern states. The culture of the pecan has of late become an important and exceedingly profitable industry in the South.

Lower California Cattle.

In addition to cattle, many excellent mules are raised in Lower California. Horses are rarely used. The faithful burro is the principal means of transportation. Except for a few thousand in La Frontera, there are no domestic sheep in the country. In the southern part there are numerous flocks of goats. The largest cattle ranch on the peninsula comprises almost 1,000,000 acres.

Saving And Increased Production

Reducing the amount of currency required is not the only way in which saving reduces the cost of living.

Wearing a suit, a hat, or a pair of shoes another season increases the available supply of goods, which amounts to increased production. And increased production, authorities tell us, is the solution of the problem of high costs.

Saving thus benefits not only the saver, but the entire community.

NOTHING BETTER THAN MILK FOR GROWING KIDDOES

When underweight children are advised to drink more milk, an objection quite frequently raised is that the price is prohibitive. However the cost of milk has not advanced as rapidly as the cost of other necessities.

Percentage increase in cost of necessities:

Potatoes	600 per cent
Sugar	328 per cent
Shoes	233 per cent
Bread	180 per cent
Eggs	114 per cent
Milk	87 per cent

The price of milk has increased only 87 per cent since 1914. Compare it with other necessities shown.

Even if it were not cheap compared with other foods milk would still be worth buying. The real value of any food is determined by what it does in the body nutrition and not by what it costs in money. The following table shows the composition and food value of whole milk:

Casein—Builds and repairs muscular tissues.

Lime—1. Builds bones and teeth.

2. Helps keep the various parts of the body all working in harmony.

Cream—Supplies body heat and energy.

Protective Substances.—Tends to maintain general well-being in adults and to favor normal growth in children. These substances are found mostly in butterfat, egg yolk and leafy vegetables such as spinach.

Water—Helps to dilute the food. The liberal use of milk is true economy. One quart of milk gives as much energy as ¾ pound of lean meat or 9 eggs; it gives as much lime for building bones and teeth as 16 medium sized oranges. Milk is the cheapest source of lime. Experience has shown that where children have had little or no milk the bones are not well built the teeth are usual-poor and the general health is not up to the standard.

Of course we are all trying to keep the food bills down. But cutting down the daily milk order is not the way to accomplish that result. Use less meat and cheaper cuts; Dr. Graham Lusk says that no family of five should buy meat until they have bought 3 quarts of milk. Use breakfast cereals, cooked at home instead of the ready to eat varieties; use dried fruits such as prunes; serve puddings such as rice and tapioca, for

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS

CURWENSVILLE

The Curwensville Borough Council met in regular session last evening and took action on a number of items. The volume of business which has been handled for the month of May has been a record for the Council. The minutes of the previous session were read and approved.

The chief was present and stated that the department had approximately 1,200 feet of hose but thought that the Council should purchase an additional 500 feet. Also a bid for a new fire truck on call at truck room.

The committee reported on a plan for George Street. Estimated that the cost of same would be about $12,000 with a deduction from the amount of $800 for tax. A report was also made on a 1000 foot 12 inch water main from the lower end of South Street. Reported that to construct a new water line of 12 inch water main in the matter of the water line was tabled indefinitely.

Mr. J. H. Hocken and John C. Keefe for sidewalk in front of their properties. Reported to committee having that work in course.

Warren Price and H. V. McCarty for a bid for recompense during the week of automobiles on South Street. The former thought that $500 would cover his claim while the latter would like $750. A bid was made without discussion.

A complaint that was an end of South Street was being run at a high rate. Reported to street committee.

It developed that the Clearfield & Clearfield Telephone Company had neglected to pay enough tax on poles for 1919. Secretary Dale decided to notify all companies to pay taxes at once and save costs.

NOTE.—Through a special arrangement with the Pennsylvania State College School of Agriculture, The Progress will each week print this column of brief, timely notes that will be of interest to all farmers. They are seasonal reminders or suggestions of things to be done on the farm or in the garden during the current week.

Spray Calendar—(Observe one to two weeks later for northern and mountain counties of Pennsylvania. State College extension men cover the entire state each week and in giving this advise are fully acquainted with conditions of plant growth.

First spray for late potatoes now due. Use Bordeaux 4-4-50. Flea beetles are becoming dangerous in southeastern Pennsylvania.

Second application of self-boiled lime sulphur for brown rot of peaches, cherries and plums.

Time for grape spray. Use Bordeaux 4-3-50.

Celery blight spray due. Use Bordeaux 5-5-50.

Cottonseed Meal and Linseed Meal can be purchased during June and July at a saving from $5 to $10 per ton as compared with December prices. Farmers should cooperate in purchasing by carload lots, through their local feed dealer if he can quote as low price as others.

Crops—The first cultivation of in fertilized crops may be deep without turning roots of the crop cultivated out later cultivations should be more shallow. Weeds are best destroyed when small and when the soil is dry cultivation saves soil moisture.

Sour Milk and warm weather have a habit of coming together. Avoid trouble by cooling the milk quickly and thoroughly. It is best to run milk over a cooler immediately after milking. When put in cans that are placed in a cold water tank, milk should be stirred frequently until cool.

Garden—If early vegetables start slowly a little nitrate of soda is a help. Just a pinch around the base of each plant is enough. Manure water serves just as well, but is harder to handle. Manure mulch is also good in many cases.

Trucking—When pea vines stand about ten inches in height save time and labor by planting late tomatoes about six inches from the row. When the vines are dead and removed you lot is planted to a good tomato stand.

Swine—Forage crops mean profit to the hog grower. Results from 25 demonstrations in Pennsylvania last year show that where forage was used there was a saving of 163 pounds of concentrated feed for every one hundred pounds of pork produced. Lower your pork production cost and get bigger profits by providing sufficient forage crops now.

Russell E. Herwood formerly of Clearfield now manager of the Wyckoff company farms in Westmoreland and Erie county, has proved beyond doubt that hog pastures pay. His demonstration was run in one of the company's farms with the cooperation of the farm bureau of Westmoreland county. Twenty one pigs six weeks old were used. The pasture consisted of oats, rape and clover sown on April 22nd. The oats was sown at the rate of one and one-half bushels per acre. Rape five pounds per acre and clover, six pounds per acre. The amount of land used for pasture was one and one-fourth acres. The pigs were turned into this pasture on June 12th. The following table shows the weight and gain, also the amount and cost of grain.

Number of pigs	21
Length of feeding period	98 days
Weight per pig when turned on pasture	51.8 lbs.
Final weight per pig	106.76 lbs.
Average daily gain	56 lbs.
Gain per pig daily	1.38 lbs.
Grain cost per pig per day	$3.075
Gain required per 100 lbs. gain on pasture	246.6 lbs.
Grain cost per 100 lbs. gain	$6.70
Total cost per 100 lbs. gain	$9.47

Information obtained from various sources shows a cost of from $19.00 to $22.00 to produce a hundred pounds of pork by the dry lot feeding. During the past summer other figures obtained from 300 feeding trials show a requirement of 475 pounds of grain to produce 100 pounds gain in the dry lot. Figuring grain at $3.00 per cwt, which is a conservative estimate, the feed cost per 100 pounds is $14.25 which looks big compared with the figure obtained when fed on pasture which is $9.70. Or putting it another way, the amount of grain required to produce 100 pounds of pork in the dry lot was 475 pounds, while the amount of grain required to produce 100 pounds of pork on pasture was 246.6 or a saving of 228.4 pounds for every 100 pounds of pork produced. There is little wonder that

There are plenty of people who think that to demand a razor is a sign of common sense and shrewdness, whereas it may indicate a lack of common sense. But there is an underlying feeling of one's self which is not satisfied, may become a man's life. Often, though perfectly sane, the man will lock the door or defend his reputation, or put a memorandum in his pocket, or turn out his pocket on his way to work, the symptom of this usually is the hurried search for a razor. A missing article in every man's life where it usually is, and the amazement at finding it there.

The law requires that every teacher employed to teach in the public schools of this commonwealth must be a person of good moral character and must be at least 18 years of age.

As no profession or calling is more important or more far-reaching in its results than that of teaching, I wish to urge upon each one contemplating entering upon this calling the most thorough preparation possible. The examinations will be somewhat more difficult than last year.

The examinations will begin at 9 a. m. It is requested that each applicant shall use the ordinary examination blank, or if it is impossible to get this, shall provide a good grade of tablet paper about the same size.

Each applicant shall present a recommendation of character from some one known either to the Superintendent or his assistants, together with the blank furnished by the Department of Public Instruction.

Owing to the importance of professional preparation for the high calling of teaching, each applicant will be required to have made a careful study of Betts' "Classroom Method and Management," also Krebs' "Being a Good Teacher," providing the applicant expects to be eligible for the Professional Examination in 1931.

As we are holding a special examination in Clearfield on August 9th, no private examinations will be held until the schools open and then only in unavoidable cases. Every one desiring to teach, is urged to take the examination at the regular time. Teachers who have taught two successful terms of school and hold a Provisional certificate averaging one and one-fourth, and have shown a good professional attitude, are eligible to enter the Professional Examination. All applicants entering this examination must present a testimonial from their respective boards, certifying to their successful experience, together with information blank furnished by the Department at Harrisburg. These blanks can be gotten at the County Superintendent's office.

"HAPPINESS" WILL BE PRESENTED BY LOCAL TALENT

The St. Francis Dramatic club are presenting a new play, "Happiness," at the St. Francis Auditorium Thursday and Friday nights, "Happiness" by J. Hartley Manners, in which Laurette Taylor starred last season.

It is a quaint, charming tale of a poor little orphan girl named Jenny who thru her optimistic belief that "it all comes out in the wash" brings happiness to two distressed people of the world, and who, by the sheer merit of her character and personality, wins true and love and happiness as the wife of a poetic Irish electrician. Replete with humor, pathos, and brilliant, "HAPPINESS" is perhaps one of the most appealing plays ever written. You owe it to yourself to see it.

WHY "BIRCH" HIT THE SNAKE

He couldn't miss it. Here is the scientific explanation of the reason why it is impossible for anybody to miss the head of a rattler when he aims a pistol. A rattler is a belligerent reptile. He views every living thing as his prey or his enemy. Whether he meets him or misses him, he will look it or him straight in the eye. And Charlie Anderson, the old back hunter, is authority for the statement that a rattler will even peek round a stump or a tree in order to hold the eye of the enemy. The rattler the day sticks his own head in direct line with the point of the barrel and the exception's eye and nothing, or an extra crooked shooting ear would be his head.

The Woodland hunter shot a rattler at the Woodland camp on Memorial Day and has been quite chummy ever since. The job he did in cropping off the head just back of the Adam's apple. The above explanation may save the price of a new pistol.

The Most Welcome Tire That Ever Came to Market

Men Who Appreciate Superlative Values Prefer The Brunswick

In every great tire factory, the chief question is: "How much can we give for the money?" And the product depends on the policy adopted.

Every man who has become acquainted with Brunswick Tires knows that Brunswick standards are again evident. This famous concern—noted as a leader in every line it entered since 1845—has once more proved that its policy is right.

A perfect tire is simply a matter of knowledge and standards and skill. No secrets nor patents prevent making an ideal tire.

But standards come first. For in tire making there is vast room for skimping, for subtle economies, for hidden shortcomings. Makers without the highest standards don't build high-grade tires.

The Brunswick organization of tire makers includes a brilliant staff of technical experts. Not a man among them has spent less than 20 years in handling rubber.

Each is a master of his craft. And the new ideas they bring to the attention of Brunswick directors receive sincere consideration.

Every proved betterment is adopted unanimously.

The Brunswick Tire is a combination of acknowledged features—plus Brunswick standards of manufacture.

The result is a super-tire, the like of which you have never known before. The kind of tire you will gladly join in welcoming.

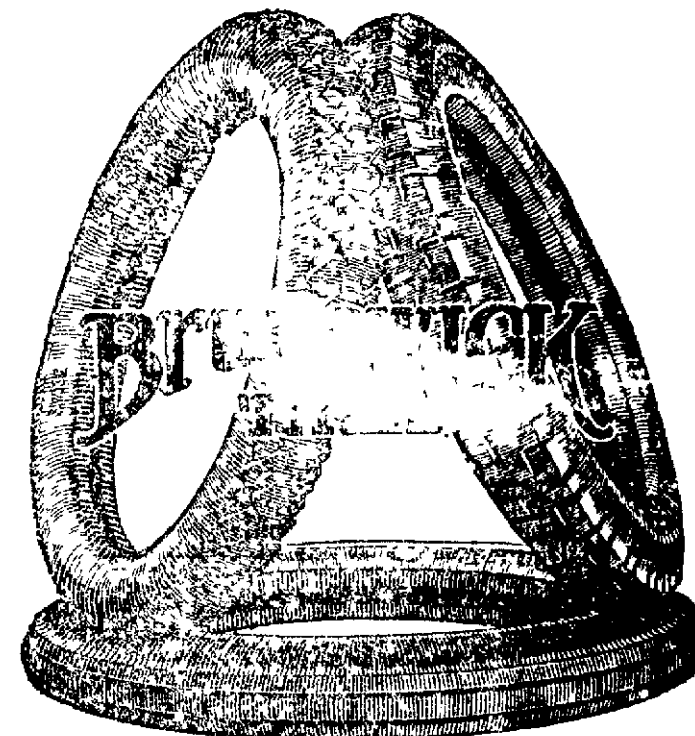

Yet Brunswicks cost no more than like-type tires.

Try ONE Brunswick. We promise a surprise. And we feel certain that you will want ALL Brunswicks.

Then good tires will have a new meaning to you.

GOODYEAR

LITTLE SUSIE

By JACK LAWTON.

(Copyright, 1920, Western Newspaper Union)

The big man in the brown overcoat looked strangely out of place as he stood in the bamboo framing of the Japanese tea-room, twirling his soft hat nervously in his broad hands.

"Got in the wrong berth, I guess," he smilingly remarked to the man who was already an occupant of the table.

The one addressed remained in stony silence, his gaze traveling apparently unseeing over the newcomer's head. He was an aristocratic appearing man and irreproachable as to attire.

The other, bent studiously to the artistic menu card. As a girl stepped noiselessly to his side, he looked up embarrassed. She was a neat little waitress, clad in the black uniform of the tea-room, a filmy, ridiculously small apron about her slim waist, and white cuffs reaching to her elbows.

"Your order?" she gently reminded.

Hastily he gave it. As she moved to the side of the other man, order book in readiness, the features of the stranger softened remarkably.

"Well, Susie," he remarked; "how is your sister?"

"No better," the girl answered quietly, adding a "thank you," as she withdrew.

The man watched the little figure out of sight, his cold eyes alight with admiration, then imperatively he beckoned to the waitress in white. Deferentially, she bent her head to him.

"Yes, Mr. Millard?"

The man spoke as one accustomed to having his wishes attended.

"Tell me about Little Susie," he said. "The girl interests me. As a waitress, she is exceptional; has spoiled me, in fact, from going elsewhere to eat."

"I'd like to see her promoted to something better than this—more remunerative. I might be able to help her."

The woman nodded understandingly.

"Little Susie has a story," she said. "She and an invalid sister were suddenly left homeless and penniless. They came to the city where Susie might find employment. Our tea-room suggested itself to her, because of the number of free hours she might have for her home duties. The care of the sister falls upon her. Susie is a great favorite with our customers. Nevertheless, we should like to see her bettering her condition."

"Could I talk with her?" the man asked eagerly.

The woman shook her head.

"It is against the rules of our tea-room," she reflected, "but as it is you, Mr. Millard, I will give Susie permission to speak with you in the corridor when you have finished your dinner."

The man bowed, then impulsively he left his chair to draw the woman aside.

"Miss Burns," he said, "I have long considered this special table as my own inalienable right. Can't you in some way dispose of this rough rider?"

"I'll try," the woman laughingly replied, and the westerner promptly obeyed her suggested change of location.

"The same waitress has charge of both tables," she explained; "she can bring your order here."

The westerner had finished his meal before his former companion languidly reached for his dessert, and he was in the corridor referred to when Little Susie came toward him with a question in her eyes.

"Miss Burns said that a man at my table had something of importance to say to me," she said, "but I did not think that it would be you."

The westerner flushed; there was something dearly, though vaguely intimate, about that low spoken "you."

"I have," he answered briskly, "if you will just step down to the waiting room. It's about your sister," he added as the girl wonderingly obeyed. "I want you to tell me all about her—and yourself." The little waitress hesitated.

"If Miss Burns sent you to me," she said at last, "I—must be grateful for your interest, but—"

"It's a true interest," the big man hastened to assure her, "and just as a sort of beginning, I wondered if you would let me see your sick sister—and get acquainted with you both."

The valued patron of the tea-room, returning after an absence of several weeks upon unexpected business, looked about anxiously for his favorite waitress.

A new girl came to take his order. Millard hurriedly beckoned Miss Burns to his side.

"Where is Susie?" he asked brusquely. "I was disappointed that last day in not being able to find her in the hall. I intended to start her at once as clerk in my office. Business requirements to be acquired later."

Miss Burns patted her forehead. "Little Susie," she said, "has surprised us all. Those quiet ones always do. She was married just three weeks after you left, to the big man whom you called a rough rider when he sat at this table. It seems that he is a great western capitalist instead. Susie sent us some wonderful pictures of her new western home, and she's elated over the benefit her sister is receiving from the air. But how Susie became acquainted with her lover is more than any of us can understand. She was always the most conventional little creature."

Mr. Millard turned coldly from his informant.

"I will have my luncheon," he said.

THOMAS H. GOON DIES

Thomas H. Goon, a long time resident of Clearfield, died at his home on Fifth street at 9:35 o'clock last evening after an illness extending over several months. His death was caused by a general physical break down due to advancing years.

The deceased was a son of the late Joseph and Caroline Holt Goon and was born in Clearfield where the present Allegheny House stands, on Sept. 1st, 1851, and was therefore in his 69th year at the time of his death. He was energetic, industrious and thoroughly honest in his business dealings. He was a barber by profession and also ran the hotel at Kermoor for a number of years. He possessed a wide circle of warm friends.

His wife died in Clearfield Sept. 12, 1911, and he is survived by one son, J. A. Goon, of Clearfield. One brother and four sisters also survive him, as follows: William Goon, Mrs. Harry Wise and Mrs. Ella Brown, of Altoona; Mrs. Mark Caldwell, of New Millport, and Mrs. S. B. Fench, of Clearfield Junction.

The funeral will occur tomorrow with brief services at his late home on Fifth street at 11 o'clock, at the conclusion of which the funeral party will leave for New Millport over the New York Central road. The funeral services in charge of Rev. J. J. Fench will be held at New Millport at 1 o'clock, with interment in New Millport cemetery.

Her Grandma Used Sage Tea To Darken Her Hair.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe. Improved by the addition of other ingredients, it is ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to be a delightful hair restorer.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after an application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. This preparation is a delightful hair restorer.

"DRY" ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS PLEASED AT COURT RULING

Prohibition officials of the Pittsburgh district are jubilant over the decision of the United States supreme court announced yesterday, in which the prohibition liquor act was declared to be constitutional. For some time these officials have been enforcing the law to the best of their ability, but have been hampered in their operations by suits brought to test the validity of the act under which they were working.

"Without expressing any personal opinions over the decision of the supreme court, officially, we are delighted," said State Prohibition Director W. W. Hindman yesterday afternoon. "We have been working under a serious handicap and did not always know just where we were at. After procuring evidence of illicit dealing in liquor, we were uncertain of our ground, because we did not know what attitude the court might take when the case was presented to it.

"The situation, however, is now entirely changed. With the supreme court upholding the prohibition act in its entirety, the courts now have but one procedure. We have but to present evidence sufficient to establish the guilt of the party, to procure a conviction. There is no longer any doubt as to the validity of the act under which we are operating and many persons who have been skating on thin ice for the last few weeks, will no longer find it profitable to approach too closely to the danger line.

Lid Tightened

"The man who has his cellar well stocked is certain to have many friends, for liquor will become harder to get and will advance rapidly in price. Upon receipt of the court's ruling, we will study it carefully, and then will launch a crusade that will bring many persons, who have been illegally dealing in liquor to justice."

The "lid" also is being screwed down tightly upon permits for transportation of liquor and for the sale of whiskey. An investigation made by the department brought out the fact that many of the persons who had taken out permits to transport whiskey were violating the conditions under which such permits were issued. When such cases are unearthed, the offender is brought before the prohibition officers and unless his explanation is satisfactory, his permit is revoked.

By Ralph E. Klepper, who has been of the department granting permits, revoked eight yesterday. He found that the permit was not conformed to the law. He said that permits were daily the average being eight. It also is now difficult to procure a permit to sell whiskey, many of the applicants being refused. Where violations of the conditions under which these permits were issued have been found, the guilty party is deprived of the right to deal in liquor.

There is a general tightening up throughout the state, and Director Hindman believes that his department now is in position not only to energetically enforce the law but also to bring many of those who have been violating the act to justice.

In the list of names in the Modern Health Crusade published Monday the name of Monetta Thompson, of Miss Nellie Dobson's room, was inadvertently omitted.

Everyone Should Drink Hot Water in the Morning

Wash away all stomach, liver, and bowel poisons before breakfast.

To feel your best day in and day out, to feel clean inside, no sour bile to coat your tongue and sicken your breath or dull your head; no constipation, bilious attacks, sick headache, colds, rheumatism or gassy, acid stomach, you must bathe on the inside like you bathe on the outside. This is much more important, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.

To keep these poisons out of the well flushed from the stomach, kidneys and bowels, drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoon of phosphate in it. This will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire system, try it before eating breakfast.

LABOR FRAMES ITS DEMANDS TO MAKE OF BOTH PARTIES

By RALPH F. COUCH
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

MONTREAL, CANADA, June 9.—Four million organized workers of the United States have framed their demands upon presidential candidates and political parties through the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor which opened here with nearly 1,600 delegates which has been in session here since Monday.

Coming to the convention fresh from personal contact with the rank and file of union men in all sections, the delegates plunged immediately into consideration of a comprehensive program of economic, political and social issues.

The program will be brought squarely to the attention of leaders in the Republican and Democratic nominating conventions at Chicago and San Francisco.

President Samuel Gompers of the federation is now in Chicago with labor's mandate to the Republican convention.

Gompers also as head of the federation's national non-partisan political campaign committee, will present the program to the country as part of organized labor's fight against re-election of senators and congressmen listed as enemies.

A preliminary draft of the program, prepared by the federation executive committee as part of its annual report and presented to the convention practically as the first order of business is expected to receive little amendment from the delegates who, however may consume two weeks in considering it before they accord complete approval.

Inspired by the industrial and economic confusion and strife of the past year, the program is regarded by Gompers and other federation officials as the most important ever presented.

Reviewing the struggles of the year, it demands repeal of the Esch-Cummings Transportation act, condemns profiteering, scores Attorney General Palmer on many counts and presents a detailed plan for new legislation to reduce living costs. The plan to reduce living costs is presented in the form of six demands which are:

1. Government purchase of standard commodities direct from producers and resale at fixed prices through regular retail channels.

2. Retirement of the floating debt and part of the funded war debt thru a tax on "excessive war profits extorted from the American people during 1916, 1917, 1918, 1919 and 1920."

3. Extension of powers of the federal farm loan bank enabling it to advance credit to farmers' co-operative societies which are "no less vital and worthy of support than are the railroads which were given hundreds of millions of dollars."

4. Control of credit capital to be taken from "those whose chief interest is the cumulation of profits" placed in the hands of a public agency and administered by "voluntary and cooperative methods."

5. Labor department to compile and issue monthly statements on the cost of manufacture of staple articles.

Establishment of government boards to investigate prices and profits and public inspection of all income and other tax returns.

"The cost of living must go no higher," said the executive committee in making these recommendations. "Wages must be advanced in every case to a point at which the American standard of living is secure."

Labor department reports were quoted to show that since 1914 wages generally have advanced but 55 per cent while living costs have advanced 83.1 per cent and in some cities between 90 and 100 per cent.

Attorney General Palmer's campaign to reduce living costs was described as a "campaign of stupidity" seeking "only here and there to pilfer some trifling merchant while permitting great aggregations of capital upon which enormous profits have been reaped to escape in the enjoyment of a monumental blunder."

"The campaign of the justice department reached the heights of the ridiculous when it solemnly advised the American people to strike a blow at profiteering by buying cheaper cuts of meat."

CHICAGO, June 9—A terrific "drive" to make General Leonard Wood, the Republican Presidential nominee was launched here today. The Wood forces started their sweeping offensive from several angles. The preliminary work is finished and the real battle is begun. The selection of Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, as chairman of the Resolutions Committee late yesterday and the unanimous selection of Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, temporary chairman, of the convention as Permanent Chairman were among the early indications to those initiated in the political mysteries that something was going on.

While the votes on the chairmanship of the Resolutions Committee were being garnered in Wm. Barnes of New York nominated Senator Lodge as permanent chairman. Many of the southern members of the committee swung to Lodge. In this was seen the work of Frank H. Hitchcock who had control of the south even before he swung over to Wood. Another indication of the Wood offensive was renewed pressure on delegates instructed for candidates other than General Wood who would fulfill their technical obligations to the man they were instructed for on the first and second ballots. Some of the Johnson delegates were reported under particularly strong pressure.

CHICAGO, June 9—Temporary Chairman Henry Cabot Lodge called the Republican National Convention to order at its second session at 11:20 a. m. today. The main business before the convention was approval of the report of the Committee on Permanent organization which recommended that Lodge be permanent Chairman. The committee recommended that all of the temporary officers be made permanent.

The official temperature of the Coliseum was 84 degrees. Thousands of fans were going. The most interesting occurrence on the floor happened ten minutes before the opening when a box of candy was discovered among the New York delegates. It was soon surrounded by a crowd.

The police began to clear the aisles of the crowds at eleven o'clock. After Lodge called the convention to order Rev. Stone of Chicago made the invocation. At the conclusion of the prayer Dr. Stone lead the convention in song. When the business session was finished cries of "Depew" were heard from all parts of the Coliseum. He ascended the rostrum and was introduced by Lodge who said "although a young man I need not introduce him to a Republican Convention." Depew evidently misunderstood Lodge and thought he referred to him as an old man. "When Senator Lodge says I am an old man he is mistaken," Depew declared. He described a letter from a Westerner who had been told Depew's age who said "he is either a miracle or a liar." Depew contrasted the present convention with the convention which nominated Lincoln the second time. He contrasted the World war debts with the debts of the Civil war and declared that we needed a Republican administration to bring back some semblance of order. A Republican Administration is necessary, he said, to wipe out the war debts and bring down the cost of living. Depew was interrupted every few minutes by applause.

CHICAGO, June 9—The Republican National Convention swung into its second session with the prospect of quickly cleaning up all preliminary work and getting down to business soon. The reports from the Committees on Resolutions, Credentials and Permanent Organization were to be received probably by noon. Speech making was in prospect while the delegates awaited the report of the Resolutions Committee making the platform.

The keenest interest was manifested in what planks will be proposed for labor and the League of Nations, especially the latter, as it will cause the real fire works of the Convention with the League and Anti-League workers clashing on the floor. The real work is being done in the committee rooms and in quiet discussion between delegates. Developments of today included:

First, the Credentials Committee reviewed the decision of the National Committee and reversed its ruling in three cases making the total number of delegates entitled to seats 984. This makes the necessary votes for nomination 493.

Second, the Committee on Permanent Organization has its report ready to submit in today's session. The report approves of Senator Lodge as permanent chairman and the other temporary officers as permanent.

Third, the Resolutions Committee will have disposed of the Mexican policy, League of Nations and the labor planks before night. Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation

Convention News Is
Biggest Topic Today

You may not be interested in politics but it is a mighty important event that is taking place in Chicago this week. It is of the utmost importance to every man, woman and child that the right kind of man be named as the candidate of not only the Republican party but the Democratic party as well. Aside from our interest in the future the gigantic contest between the presidential aspirants is a most interesting topic. So many people write us that they forget to renew their subscription that we take this method of reminding our mail subscribers to watch for that RED ENVELOPE and see that it is returned by first mail.

The Progress will carry the news of both big conventions in all its phases. Send in that RED ENVELOPE now.

of Labor is here to fight for laws favorable to labor.

Fourth, the Resolutions Committee has its report on routine ready to submit.

Fifth, new organizations by Johnson and Lowden appeared to be taking shape. A vigorous Wood offensive is in full swing.

Lowden's workers were confident that they would make inroads in a number of important delegates so as to insure Lowden the nomination with 500 votes. In the Johnson camp it was predicted that telegrams and letters would swamp the delegates from the people back home telling them they want Johnson of California. Hoover's workers were busy linking up second choice votes.

CHICAGO, June 9—The labor, League of Nations and Mexican issues were before the Resolutions Committee of the Republican National Committee today. By tonight the committee was expected to decide the form on which these questions will go into the platform. A sub-committee was appointed while the full committee held open hearings. Scores of petitioners sought the rooms where the hearings were in progress seeking to get their views into the platform. Both friends and foes of the League, bitter enders, and reservationists composed the sub-committee which was headed by Senator Watson of Indiana. Senator Borah and Senator McCormack are the irreconcilable members of the sub-committee which will also include Watson and Lodge, reservationists, Odgen Mills of New York, a pro-League, Smoot of Utah, a Lodge reservationist, Lewis Coolidge, of Massachusetts, who has leanings toward Borah's views. William Allen White of Kansas, Wm. Heyburn of Kentucky, D. Lawrence of Virginia, Wallace McCamant of Oregon, Governor Beckman of Rhode Island and Harris Gilpin of Michigan are classed as more or less fervent reservationists.

STATE FORESTER THANKS
CLEARFIELD FIRE FIGHTERS

HARRISBURG, PA., June 9.—Gideon Pinchot, the State's chief forester, is delighted with the spirit displayed by Clearfield's volunteer forest fire fighters. He commended highly the action of the sixty-four men who recently went to the assistance of Forester Horning, at Snow Shoe, where a severe and extensive forest fire raged in the mountains for several days.

A report of the fire-fighting activities of Clearfield's citizens was sent to the Pennsylvania Department of Forestry by William F. Dague the forester in charge of the Clearfield State Forest. Members of hunting clubs of that locality, who patrolled the woods for possible forest fires on Memorial Day when the streams were thronged with recreationists and fishermen, were likewise complimented by Commissioner Pinchot. He expressed the desire to thank personally every person who assisted in the protection of the State's forests.

The happy young couple left on the 1:15 train for Altoona where they have their home already furnished for occupancy.

OLD VETERAN BURIED

The funeral of the late Gideon P. Doughman, who died Friday morning, May 28th, was held from the home of his son, Walter Doughman, in Gramplan, on Thursday afternoon June 3rd at 2 p. m. His daughter, Mrs. S. B. Willit, of the State of Washington, with many others, was in attendance. The deceased was a veteran of the Civil war and the G. A. R., Spanish-American and World War veterans were represented at the funeral.

Rev. Jones, of Lumber City, officiated and interment was made in the Friends cemetery. J. S. Smith, of Curwenville, was the funeral director in charge.

Circassian Walnut.

Circassian walnut is sold by the pound or the ton and not by the foot. As early as 118 B. C. it was introduced into Italy from Persia. The logs are sold from the forest with their bark on. Only the heart of the wood is used, and it is the crooked, irregular logs that possess the best figured wood.

Senator Penrose Believed Too
Ill to Communicate With the Penn. Delegation at Chicago493 NECESSARY FOR NOMINATION

By HAROLD D. JACOBS
United Press Staff Correspondent
CHICAGO, June 9—The Credentials Committee of the Republican National Committee today completed its work of making up the permanent roll of that body at 5 a. m. today after it had been in session thirteen hours. After reviewing 137 of the contest cases heard by the National Committee last week and one additional from Oregon the Committee made only three reversals from the committee's finding. This brings the normal personnel to 984 with 493 necessary for the nomination.

SPOURL SENTIMENT
GROWS AT CHICAGO
IN BIG MAN HUNT

CHICAGO, June 8—The situation in the Republican contest for the presidential nominee is as confused tonight as it has been at any time since the candidates arrived on the scene.

This was the situation: Senator Johnson has gained some strength; Wood's chances in inner circles are held to be practically hopeless.

Big business is still trying desperately to put over Lowden but there is increased antagonism to his candidacy.

The older statesmen are desperately trying to find a man who will satisfy business interests and at the same time be able to command the support of voters who believe in the principles and ideals of Senator Johnson.

They are having a most difficult search. A score of names have been canvassed in conferences today, but not one of them appeared to possess the qualities the old time leaders require.

The name of Governor Sproul persists prominently in the foreground. If the Pennsylvania delegation can effect a working agreement with the New York delegation, additional strength will be secured. But the New Yorkers apparently are considerably at sea and are not yet able to decide on a program that all of the Empire delegates will stand by.

There are indications that this "will be a surprise convention," that is the nominee may be some man who will spring into prominence by some dramatic action on the floor of the convention.

In the credentials committee there was a coalition of Johnson and Wood men in the selection of chairman which defeated the Wood candidate.

This was taken to indicate that if there is a break in the Wood ranks his support will go to Johnson.

Mrs. C. C. Johnson of Philadelphia is spending a few days with her sister Mrs. Jas. McLaughlin of Park street.

Miss Mildred McLaughlin entertained twelve of her friends at a chicken dinner last evening at her home on Park street in honor of her sixth birthday. All had an enjoyable time.

Miss Hazel Johnson of Philadelphia attended the party.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Robinson, of Weaver street left for Altoona on this morning's Pennsylvania to attend the funeral of their grandson, Lester DeHass whose death occurred at his home due to leakage of the heart. He was seventeen years old. His death is a great shock to his parents and grandparents and he will be missed by every one who knew him. Always a pleasant word and smile for all even when suffering intense pain. He leaves to mourn their loss his father and mother and one brother in the Marines and one sister at home.

United Press Report Declares Leaders
Of Delegation Have Heard No
Word Since Arrival

NO RESPONSE TO PHONE CALLS

(By United Press)
CHICAGO, June 9—Senator Boies Penrose has not talked with any of the leaders of the Pennsylvania delegation since their arrival here, it was learned today, although long distance telephone lines connect the Pennsylvania headquarters and Penrose's bed side. All direct communication with him has failed, members of the state delegation said. It is the first time in many years that the Republican party is without the advice of a veteran leader.

It was reported here that Penrose's condition is serious. There has been no response to many telegrams sent Penrose and the messages which have been received bear the signature of Penrose's secretary. The inability of Penrose to take any personal part in directing affairs probably explains the action of the Pennsylvania delegates in launching the Sproul boom shortly after their arrival here. A few weeks ago Penrose opposed Sproul and recommended Knox. Had Penrose been here or been able to participate by long distance telephone many persons close to the Pennsylvania situation say that Knox would be in Sproul's shoes.

One of the men identified were Mrs. Emma Crouse, of Utica, her ten months old baby and ten year old son, and Miss Edith Brayton, of Fall River, Mass. The wreck occurred at mid-night.

CAPITAL SHOCKED
BY SUDDEN DEATH
OF JUDGE KUNKLE

HARRISBURG, June 8—President Judge Kunkle, before whom the capital graft cases were tried and in which several of the defendants were convicted, died at his home here early tonight after an illness since last April. He was 63 years old.

Judge Kunkle was defeated at the May primaries by Judge Sylvester Sailer, of Cumberland county, for a seat on the state supreme court bench. He took no active part in the campaign.

He has been on the Dauphin county bench since 1903. His successor will be appointed by the governor.

SUFFERED COMPOUND
FRACTURE OF LEG

Sheridan Betz, of Pine street, employed as a carpenter by Contractor Frank Snook, suffered a compound fracture of his left leg shortly after 12 o'clock today. Mr. Snook and his crew had been working at the hospital and upon quitting work at noon got into Millard Fillhart's automobile to come over to town for dinner. When the machine reached the corner of Second and Pine streets Mr. Betz jumped off while it was in motion. He missed his footing and fell to the street. The rear wheel of the car passed over the prostrate man's leg and caused a serious fracture just above the ankle. A compound fracture was caused, the bone being forced through his trousers leg.

He was picked up and carried into the office of Dr. Stewart just a few feet distant where Drs. Stewart and Cowdrick reduced the fracture and then had the injured man removed to the Clearfield hospital.

The wave of twenty per cent. reduction sales throughout the county is declared by many conservative observers to be only a temporary relief from high prices. They declare that many merchants are digging their own graves and that there can be no genuine reduction in the cost of living until the causes are removed. There is a wide difference of opinion as to the causes. Men are almost a unit in crediting or charging under production with the high prices. Ultra conservatives profess to believe that wages must fall before living can be cheaper. Many of the beliefs are fallacious. And if under production is the cause it naturally follows that the consumer is being gouged on what is being produced because of the demand. The manufacturer, the speculator, the jobber and, in some instances, the retailer is sharing in the large profits.

Whether the relief be temporary or permanent Mr. Average Citizen is thankful for it and he is thanking, not the manufacturer, the speculator or the jobber, but the retailer who takes the step. After all the retailer has but one source from which to draw his profits and that is his customers. The retailer may be dropping a little money or at least sacrificing the greater part of what would be his profits but his customers are going to remember him for it. There is no danger of any merchant digging his own grave in any such manner so long as his trade is with him. There are instances where wages are abnormally high but our observation is that the manufacturer must take the first step or at least show to the world that he is putting the same standards of efficiency into his business as he expects from labor. It is true that all business has been a gamble but the stakes have been large and the odds favorable to success. The reckless and gambling instinct has permeated the business world and brought about an expansion of credits undreamed of. Expansive and luxurious methods of conducting business and wasteful selling and distributing methods have added tremendously to selling prices. Though there was an under production and a demand for more than any manufacturer could produce, we have yet to hear of any of them disbanding their selling forces or taking any other step that would decrease the cost of their product. Our hotels today are filled to capacity with salesmen who solicit orders that cannot be filled. A woodsman begins at the butt of the tree to trim off the branches in preparing the log for the mill. Business must begin to trim its branches in the same manner.

These retail price reductions have had their temporary effect and while we believe that the twenty per cent. effect will be more or less temporary the campaign is bound to have an effect on the manufacturer. Already there are signs of manufacturers trimming their branches to meet the demands of merchants who have been telling them that the people are demanding a good grade of staple goods at conservative prices. Fads, fancies and the finer grades are going begging on the market. There will be a turning to staple goods which can be sold at a reasonable figure. Manufacturers are beginning to do some figuring for they most surely realize that another day of price competition is dawning and that price instead of wares will be the test of their strength. There is evidence that manufacturers are heeding the demands of the people and the refusal of merchants to buy fall and winter goods.

Yes, the effect will be both temporary and permanent, temporary in that it affords relief now, permanent in that it is forcing business to set its house in order for a new order of things. The new order will not be revolutionary but it will be the beginning of the slide for life.

Nuts Grown in United States.

About the only nuts that have been so far raised in this country on a large scale are the English walnut and the almond, the former mainly in southern California, the latter in central California, also the pecan in the southern states. The culture of the pecan has of late become an important and exceedingly profitable industry in the South.

Lower California Cattle.

In addition to cattle, many excellent mules are raised in Lower California. Horses are rarely used. The faithful burro is the principal means of transportation. Except for a few thousand in La Frontera, there are no domestic sheep in the country. In the southern part there are numerous flocks of goats. The largest cattle ranch on the peninsula comprises almost 1,000,000 acres.

Saving And Increased Production

Reducing the amount of currency required is not the only way in which saving reduces the cost of living.

Wearing a suit, a hat, or a pair of shoes another season increases the available supply of goods, which amounts to increased production. And increased production, authorities tell us, is the solution of the problem of high costs.

Saving thus benefits not only the saver, but the entire community.

NOTHING BETTER THAN MILK FOR GROWING KIDDOES

When underweight children are advised to drink more milk, an objection quite frequently raised is that the price is prohibitive. However the cost of milk has not advanced as rapidly as the cost of other necessities.

Percentage increase in cost of necessities:

Potatoes	600 per cent
Sugar	328 per cent
Shoes	233 per cent
Bread	180 per cent
Eggs	114 per cent
Milk	87 per cent

The price of milk has increased only 87 per cent since 1914. Compare it with other necessities shown.

Even if it were not cheap compared with other foods milk would still be worth buying. The real value of any food is determined by what it does in the body nutrition and not by what it costs in money. The following table shows the composition and food value of whole milk:

Casein—Builds and repairs muscular tissues.

Lime—1. Builds bones and teeth.

2. Helps keep the various parts of the body all working in harmony.

Cream—Supplies body heat and energy.

Protective Substances.—Tends to maintain general well-being in adults and to favor normal growth in children. These substances are found mostly in butterfat, egg yolk and leafy vegetables such as spinach.

Water—Helps to dilute the food.

The liberal use of milk is true economy. One quart of milk gives as much energy as $\frac{3}{4}$ pound of lean meat or 9 eggs; it gives as much lime for building bones and teeth as 16 medium sized oranges. Milk is the cheapest source of lime. Experience has shown that where children have had little or no milk the bones are not well built the teeth are usual poor and the general health is not up to the standard.

Of course we are all trying to keep the food bills down. But cutting down the daily milk order is not the way to accomplish that result. Use less meat and cheaper cuts; Dr. Graham Lusk says that no family of five should buy meat until they have bought 3 quarts of milk. Use breakfast cereals, cooked at home instead of the ready to eat varieties; use dried fruits such as prunes; serve puddings such as rice and tapioca, for

NOTE.—Through a special arrangement with the Pennsylvania State College School of Agriculture, The Progress will each week print this column of brief, timely notes that will be of interest to all farmers. They are seasonal reminders or suggestions of things to be done on the farm or in the garden during the current week.

Spray Calendar—(Observe one to two weeks later for northern and mountain counties of Pennsylvania. State College extension men cover the entire state each week and in giving this advise are fully acquainted with conditions of plant growth.

First spray for late potatoes now due. Use Bordeaux 4-4-50. Flea beetles are becoming dangerous in southeastern Pennsylvania.

Second application of self-boiled lime sulphur for brown rot of peaches, cherries and plums.

Time for grape spray. Use Bordeaux 4-3-50.

Celery blight spray due. Use Bordeaux 5-5-50.

Cottonseed Meal and Linseed Meal can be purchased during June and July at a saving from $5 to $10 per ton as compared with December prices. Farmers should cooperate in purchasing by carload lots, through their local feed dealer if he can quote as low price as others.

Crops—The first cultivation of in fertilized crops may be deep without turning roots of the crop cultivated out later cultivations should be more shallow. Weeds are best destroyed when small and when the soil is dry cultivation saves soil moisture.

Sour Milk and warm weather have a habit of coming together. Avoid trouble by cooling the milk quickly and thoroughly. It is best to run milk over a cooler immediately after milking. When put in cans that are placed in a cold water tank, milk should be stirred frequently until cool.

Garden—If early vegetables start slowly a little nitrate of soda is a help. Just a pinch around the base of each plant is enough. Manure water serves just as well, but is harder to handle. Manure mulch is also good in many cases.

Trucking—When pea vines stand about ten inches in height save time and labor by planting late tomatoes about six inches from the row. When the vines are dead and removed you lot is planted to a good tomato stand.

Swine—Forage crops mean profit to the hog grower. Results from 25 demonstrations in Pennsylvania last year show that where forage was used there was a saving of 163 pounds of concentrated feed for every one hundred pounds of pork produced. Lower your pork production cost and get bigger profits by providing sufficient forage crops now.

Russell E. Herwood formerly of Clearfield now manager of the Wyckoff company farms in Westmoreland and Erie county, has proved beyond doubt that hog pastures pay. His demonstration was run in one of the company's farms with the cooperation of the farm bureau of Westmoreland county. Twenty-one pigs six weeks old were used. The pasture consisted of oats, rape and clover sown on April 22nd. The oats was sown at the rate of one and one-half bushels per acre. Rape five pounds per acre and clover, six pounds per acre. The amount of land used for pasture was one and one-fourth acres. The pigs were turned into this pasture on June the 12th. The following table shows the weight and gain, also the amount and cost of grain.

Number of pigs 21
Length of feeding period 98 days
Weight per pig when turned on pasture 51.8 lbs.
Final weight per pig 106.76 lbs.
Average daily gain 56 lbs.
Gain per pig daily 1.38 lbs.
Grain cost per pig per day $3.075
Gain required per 100 lbs. gain on pasture 246.6 lbs.
Grain cost per 100 lbs. gain $6.70
Total cost per 100 lbs. gain $9.47

Information obtained from various sources shows a cost of from $19.00 to $22.00 to produce a hundred pounds of pork by the dry-lot feeding. During the past summer other figures obtained from 300 feeding trials show a requirement of 475 pounds of grain to produce 100 pounds gain in the dry lot. Figuring grain at $3.00 per cwt, which is a conservative estimate, the feed cost per 100 pounds is $14.25 which looks big compared with the figure obtained when fed on pasture which is $6.70. Or putting it another way, the amount of grain required to produce 100 pounds of pork in the dry lot was 475 pounds, while the amount of grain required to produce 100 pounds of pork on pasture was 246.6 or a saving of 228.4 pounds for every 100 pounds of pork produced. There is little wonder that

The law requires that every teacher employed to teach in the public schools of this commonwealth must be a person of good moral character and must be at least 18 years of age.

As no profession or calling is more important or more far-reaching in its results than that of teaching, I wish to urge upon each one contemplating entering upon this calling the most thorough preparation possible. The examinations will be somewhat more difficult than last year.

The examinations will begin at 9 a. m. It is requested that each applicant shall use the ordinary examination blank, or if it is impossible to get this, shall provide a good grade of tablet paper about the same size.

Each applicant shall present a recommendation of character from some one known either to the Superintendent or his assistants, together with the blank furnished by the Department of Public Instruction.

Owing to the importance of professional preparation for the high calling of teaching, each applicant will be required to have made a careful study of Betts' "Classroom Management," also Krebs' "Being a Good Teacher," providing the applicant expects to be eligible for the Professional Examination in 1931.

As we are holding a special examination in Clearfield on August 9th, no private examinations will be held until after the schools open and then only in unavoidable cases. Every one desiring to teach, is urged to take the examination at the regular time. Teachers who have taught two successful terms of school and hold a Provisional certificate averaging one and one-fourth, and have shown a good professional attitude, are eligible to enter the Professional Examination. All applicants entering this examination must present a testimonial from their respective boards, certifying to their successful experience, together with information blank furnished by the Department at Harrisburg. These blanks can be gotten at the County Superintendent's office.

"HAPPINESS" WILL BE PRESENTED BY LOCAL TALENT

The St. Francis Dramatic club are presenting a new play, offering the season at St. Francis Auditorium Thursday and Friday nights, "Happiness" by J. Hartley Manners, in which Laurett Taylor starred last season.

It is a quaint, charming tale of a poor little orphan girl named Jenny who thru her optimistic belief that "it all comes out in the wash" brings happiness to two distressed people of the world, and who, by the sheer merit of her character and personality, wins true and love and happiness as the wife of a poetic Irish electrician. Replete with humor, pathos, in humor, colorful and brilliant, "HAPPINESS" is perhaps one of the most appealing plays ever written. You owe it to yourself to see it.

WHY "BIRCH" HIT THE SNAKE

He couldn't miss it. Here is the scientific explanation of the reason why it is impossible for anybody to miss the head of a rattler when he is a pistol. A rattler is a belligerent reptile. He views every living thing as his prey or his enemy. Whether he meets him or runs a rat, he will look it or him straight in the eye. And Charlie Anderson, the old back hunter, is authority for the statement that a rattler will even peek round a stump or a tree in order to hold the eye of the enemy. The rattler the day sticks his own head in direct line with the point of the barrel and the exception's eye and nothing, or an extra crooked shooting ear would be his life.

He would not hesitate to tell you that at the Woodland camp on Memorial Day and he been quite chesty over this piece of his in capturing off the head just back of the Adam's apple. The above explanation may save the price of a new pistol.

The Most Welcome Tire That Ever Came to Market

Men Who Appreciate Superlative Values Prefer The Brunswick

In every great tire factory, the chief question is: "How much can we give for the money?" And the product depends on the policy adopted.

Every man who has become acquainted with Brunswick Tires knows that Brunswick standards are again evident. This famous concern—noted as a leader in every line it entered since 1845—has once more proved that its policy is right.

A perfect tire is simply a matter of knowledge and standards and skill. No secrets nor patents prevent making an ideal tire.

But standards come first. For in tire making there is vast room for skimping, for subtle economies, for hidden shortcomings. Makers without the highest standards don't build high-grade tires.

The Brunswick organization of tire makers includes a brilliant staff of technical experts. Not a man among them has spent less than 20 years in handling rubber.

Each is a master of his craft. And the new ideas they bring to the attention of Brunswick directors receive sincere consideration.

Every proved betterment is adopted unanimously.

The Brunswick Tire is a combination of acknowledged features—plus Brunswick standards of manufacture.

The result is a super-tire, the like of which you have never known before. The kind of tire you will gladly join in welcoming.

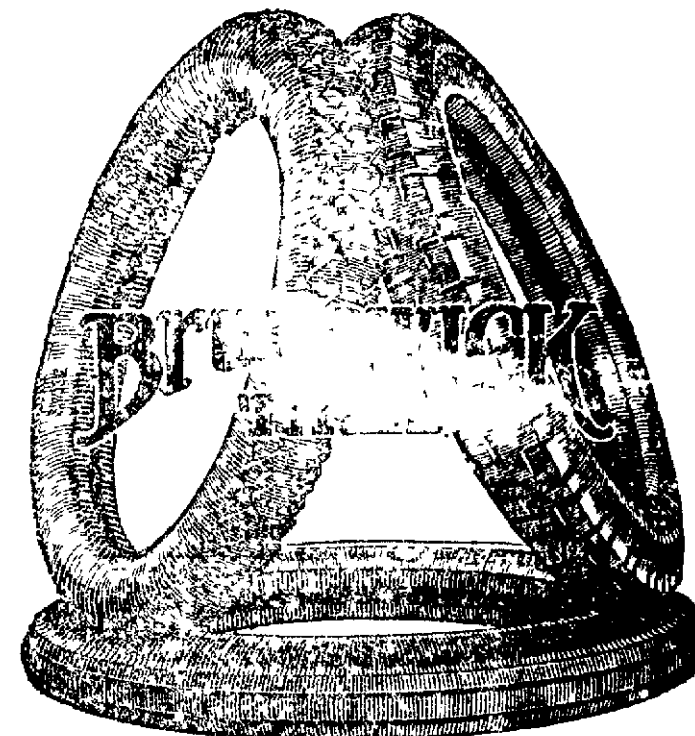

Yet Brunswicks cost no more than like-type tires.

Try ONE Brunswick. We promise a surprise. And we feel certain that you will want ALL Brunswicks.

Then good tires will have a new meaning to you.

GOODYEAR

LITTLE SUSIE

By JACK LAWTON.

(Copyright, 1920, Western Newspaper Union)

The big man in the brown overcoat looked strangely out of place as he stood in the bamboo framing of the Japanese tea-room, twirling his soft hat nervously in his broad hands.

"Got in the wrong berth, I guess," he smilingly remarked to the man who was already an occupant of the table.

The one addressed remained in stony silence, his gaze traveling apparently unseeing over the newcomer's head. He was an aristocratic appearing man and irreproachable as to attire.

The other, bent studiously to the artistic menu card. As a girl stepped noiselessly to his side, he looked up embarrassed. She was a neat little waitress, clad in the black uniform of the tea-room, a filmy, ridiculously small apron about her slim waist, and white cuffs reaching to her elbows.

"Your order?" she gently reminded.

Hastily he gave it. As she moved to the side of the other man, order book in readiness, the features of the stranger softened remarkably.

"Well, Susie," he remarked; "how is your sister?"

"No better," the girl answered quietly, adding a "thank you," as she withdrew.

The man watched the little figure out of sight, his cold eyes alight with admiration, then imperatively he beckoned to the waitress in white. Deferentially, she bent her head to him.

"Yes, Mr. Millard?"

The man spoke as one accustomed to having his wishes attended.

"Tell me about Little Susie," he said. "The girl interests me. As a waitress, she is exceptional; has spoiled me, in fact, from going elsewhere to eat."

"I'd like to see her promoted to something better than this—more remunerative. I might be able to help her."

The woman nodded understandingly.

"Little Susie has a story," she said.

"She and an invalid sister were suddenly left homeless and penniless. They came to the city where Susie might find employment. Our tea-room suggested itself to her, because of the number of free hours she might have for her home duties. The care of the sister falls upon her. Susie is a great favorite with our customers. Nevertheless, we should like to see her bettering her condition."

"Could I talk with her?" the man asked eagerly.

The woman shook her head.

"It is against the rules of our tea-room," she reflected, "but as it is you, Mr. Millard, I will give Susie permission to speak with you in the corridor when you have finished your dinner."

The man bowed, then impulsively he left his chair to draw the woman aside.

"Miss Burns," he said, "I have long considered this special table as my own inalienable right. Can't you in some way dispose of this rough rider?"

"I'll try," the woman laughingly replied, and the westerner promptly obeyed her suggested change of location.

"The same waitress has charge of both tables," she explained; "she can bring your order here."

The westerner had finished his meal before his former companion languidly reached for his dessert, and he was in the corridor referred to when Little Susie came toward him with a question in her eyes.

"Miss Burns said that a man at my table had something of importance to say to me," she said, "but I did not think that it would be you."

The westerner flushed; there was something dearly, though vaguely intimate, about that low spoken "you."

"I have," he answered briskly, "if you will just step down to the waiting room. It's about your sister," he added as the girl wonderingly obeyed. "I want you to tell me all about her—and yourself." The little waitress hesitated.

"If Miss Burns sent you to me," she said at last, "I—must be grateful for your interest, but—"

"It's a true interest," the big man hastened to assure her, "and just as a sort of beginning, I wondered if you would let me see your sick sister—and get acquainted with you both."

The valued patron of the tea-room, returning after an absence of several weeks upon unexpected business, looked about anxiously for his favorite waitress.

A new girl came to take his order. Millard hurriedly beckoned Miss Burns to his side.

"Where is Susie?" he asked brusquely. "I was disappointed that last day in not being able to find her in the hall. I intended to start her at once as clerk in my office. Business requirements to be acquired later."

Miss Burns patted her forehead.

"Little Susie," she said, "has surprised us all. Those quiet ones always do. She was married just three weeks after you left, to the big man whom you called a rough rider when he sat at this table. It seems that he is a great western capitalist instead."

Susie sent us some wonderful pictures of her new western home, and she's elated over the benefit her sister is receiving from the air. But how Susie became acquainted with her lover is more than any of us can understand. She was always the most conventional little creature."

Mr. Millard turned coldly from his informant.

"I will have my luncheon," he said.

THOMAS H. GOON DIES

Thomas H. Goon, a long time resident of Clearfield, died at his home on Fifth street at 9:35 o'clock last evening after an illness extending over several months. His death was caused by a general physical break down due to advancing years.

The deceased was a son of the late Joseph and Caroline Holt Goon and was born in Clearfield, where the present Allegheny House stands, on Sept. 1st, 1851, and was therefore in his 69th year at the time of his death. He was energetic, industrious and thoroughly honest in his business dealings. He was a barber by profession and also ran the hotel at Kermoor for a number of years. He possessed a wide circle of warm friends.

His wife died in Clearfield Sept. 12, 1911, and he is survived by one son, J. A. Goon, of Clearfield. One brother and four sisters also survive him, as follows: William Goon, Mrs. Harry Wise and Mrs. Ella Brown, of Altoona; Mrs. Mark Caldwell, of New Millport, and Mrs. S. B. Fench, of Clearfield Junction.

The funeral will occur tomorrow with brief services at his late home on Fifth street at 11 o'clock, at the conclusion of which the funeral party will leave for New Millport over the New York Central road. The funeral services in charge of Rev. J. J. J. will be held at New Millport at 1 o'clock, with interment in New Millport cemetery.

Rev. M. J. Renshan of Frenchville, transacted business in Clearfield today.

Her Grandma Used Sage Tea To Darken Her Hair.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe. Improved by the addition of other ingredients, it is ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to be a delightful hair restorer.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after an application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. This preparation is a delightful hair restorer.

"DRY" ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS PLEASED AT COURT RULING

Prohibition officials of the Pittsburgh district are jubilant over the decision of the United States supreme court announced yesterday, in which the prohibition liquor act was declared to be constitutional. For some time these officials have been enforcing the law to the best of their ability, but have been hampered in their operations by suits brought to test the validity of the act under which they were working.

"Without expressing any personal opinions over the decision of the supreme court, officially, we are delighted," said State Prohibition Director W. W. Hindman yesterday afternoon. "We have been working under a serious handicap and did not always know just where we were at. After procuring evidence of illicit dealing in liquor, we were uncertain of our ground, because we did not know what attitude the court might take when the case was presented to it.

"The situation, however, is now entirely changed. With the supreme court upholding the prohibition act in its entirety, the courts now have but one procedure. We have but to present evidence sufficient to establish the guilt of the party, to procure a conviction. There is no longer any doubt as to the validity of the act under which we are operating and many persons who have been skating on thin ice for the last few weeks, will no longer find it profitable to approach too closely to the danger line.

Lid Tightened

"The man who has his cellar well stocked is certain to have many friends, for liquor will become harder to get and will advance rapidly in price. Upon receipt of the court's ruling, we will study it carefully, and then will launch a crusade that will bring many persons, who have been illegally dealing in liquor to justice."

The "lid" also is being screwed down tightly upon permits for transportation of liquor and for the sale of whiskey. An investigation made by the department brought out the fact that many of the persons who had taken out permits to transport whiskey were violating the conditions under which such permits were issued. When such cases are unearthed, the offender is brought before the prohibition officers and unless his explanation is satisfactory, his permit is revoked.

By Ralph E. Klepper, who has been of the department granting permits, revoked eight yesterday. He found that the permit holders were not conforming to the law. He said that permits were being issued to the average being one-half of the average being issued. It also is now difficult to procure a permit to sell whiskey, many of the applicants being refused. Where violations of the conditions under which these permits were issued have been found, the guilty party is deprived of the right to deal in liquor.

There is a general tightening up throughout the state, and Director Hindman believes that his department now is in position not only to energetically enforce the law but also to bring many of those who have been violating the act to justice.

In the list of names in the Modern Health Crusade published Monday the name of Monetta Thompson, of Miss Nellie Dobson's room, was inadvertently omitted.

AUTO ACCIDENT VICTIM

Miss Eva Hepler, one of the automobile accident victims, was injured from a crash at Stroudsburg, Pa., on Thursday, June 3, 1920. Her remains were viewed at the Lumber City cemetery, officiating.

Everyone Should Drink Hot Water in the Morning

Wash away all stomach, liver, and bowel poisons before breakfast.

To feel your best day in and day out, to feel clean inside, no sour bile to coat your tongue and sicken your breath or dull your head; no constipation, bilious attacks, sick headache, colds, rheumatism or gassy, acid stomach, you must bathe on the inside like you bathe on the outside. This is much more important, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.

To keep these poisons out of the well flushed from the stomach, kidneys and bowels, drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of phosphate in it. This will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire system, try it before you are too late.

Get a quart of pure phosphate from your pharmacist. It is inexpensive and also it tastes like a drink phosphate, but it is not, it is a pure phosphate, and it is the only one that will purify the blood and the entire system.

LABOR FRAMES ITS DEMANDS TO MAKE OF BOTH PARTIES

By RALPH F. COUCH
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

MONTREAL, CANADA, June 9.—Four million organized workers of the United States have framed their demands upon presidential candidates and political parties through the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor which opened here with nearly 1,600 delegates which has been in session here since Monday.

Coming to the convention fresh from personal contact with the rank and file of union men in all sections, the delegates plunged immediately into consideration of a comprehensive program of economic, political and social issues.

The program will be brought squarely to the attention of leaders in the Republican and Democratic nominating conventions at Chicago and San Francisco.

President Samuel Gompers of the federation is now in Chicago with labor's mandate to the Republican convention.

Gompers also as head of the federation's national non-partisan political campaign committee, will present the program to the country as part of organized labor's fight against re-election of senators and congressmen listed as enemies.

A preliminary draft of the program, prepared by the federation executive committee as part of its annual report and presented to the convention partially as the first order of business is expected to receive little amendment from the delegates who, however may consume two weeks in considering it before they accord complete approval.

Inspired by the industrial and economic confusion and strife of the past year, the program is regarded by Gompers and other federation officials as the most important ever presented.

Reviewing the struggles of the year, it demands repeal of the Esch-Cummings Transportation act, condemns profiteering, scores Attorney General Palmer on many counts and presents a detailed plan for new legislation to reduce living costs. The plan to reduce living costs is presented in the form of six demands which are:

1. Government purchase of standard commodities direct from producers and resale at fixed prices through regular retail channels.
2. Retirement of the floating debt and part of the funded war debt thru a tax on "excessive war profits extorted from the American people during 1916, 1917, 1918, 1919 and 1920."
3. Extension of powers of the federal farm loan bank enabling it to advance credit to farmers' co-operative societies which are "no less vital and worthy of support than are the railroads which were given hundreds of millions of dollars."
4. Control of credit capital to be taken from "those whose chief interest is the cumulation of profits" placed in the hands of a public agency and administered by "voluntary and cooperative methods."
5. Labor department to compile and issue monthly statements on the cost of manufacture of staple articles.

Establishment of government boards to investigate prices and profits and public inspection of all income and other tax returns.

"The cost of living must go no higher," said the executive committee in making these recommendations. "Wages must be advanced in every case to a point at which the American standard of living is secure."

Labor department reports were quoted to show that since 1914 wages generally have advanced but 55 per cent while living costs have advanced 83.1 per cent and in some cities between 90 and 100 per cent.

Attorney General Palmer's campaign to reduce living costs was described as a "campaign of stupidity" seeking "only here and there to pilfer some trifling merchant while permitting great aggregations of capital upon which enormous profits have been reaped to escape in the enjoyment of a monumental blunder."

"The campaign of the justice department reached the heights of the ridiculous when it solemnly advised the American people to strike a blow at profiteering by buying cheaper cuts of meat."

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

Flush the Kidneys at once when back-ache or bladder bothers—meat forms uric acid

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders, come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scaling, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep kidneys clean and the blood pure thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.
